OUR Republick have sent an Express to Turin, to complain to the Duke of Savoy, of the refusal of the Chevalier Palavicini a Piemontois who is in Savonna with a Brigantine he commands, to deliver up a Turkish Slave he has taken belonging to the Squadron of Gallies commanded by the Duke de Turfis: They have likewise dispatch'd a Courier to their Minister at Madrid, with Directions to demand of King Philip V. that Orders be given that the Gallies of the Duke de Turfis, and other Vessels fitted out by the Governour of Final, forbear to interrupt Commerce on our Coast; and to declare that otherwise they shall be oblig'd to take what Measures they think fit. Letters from Frankfort of the 23d of August advise, that the Elector of Mentz was come thither that day incognito, with the Count de Schonborn Vice-Chancellor of the Empire; that the Prince of Taxis had treated them very splendidly at Dinner; and that in the Evening his Electoral Highness return'd to Mentz; but that the Count de Schonborn continued at Frankfort, and was preparing to go to the Court of Vienna. These Letters add, that 'twas advis'd from Munich, that the Household Goods of the Count d' Arco who is in the Elector of Bavaria's Service, had been discover'd there, and confiscated to the use of the Emperor.

From Cologne they write, the 25th of August, that the French are fortifying the Fort of St. Martin at Treves; and that the Fortifications of Traerbach, are likewise repairing and strengthening by order of the Allies.

Mens, Aug. 19. The Battallions of Wetterlo and du Mont are come into Garrison here, to prevent all surprize by the Dutch Troops, who often appear in great Numbers in the Neighbourhood of this Place. Last Week particularly, a Party of 400 Dutch coming into the Woods of Dossu and Cambren, the Gates of this Town were kept fast shut 24 hours, in an Apprehension that some Plot had been laid for letting in that Party. The Peasants labour Day and Night to get in their Corn from off the Ground in the open Country herabouts, fearing least the Armies should come and forrage.

Berlin, August 18. The King of Prussia is at present at Tangermund in the Marckt of Brandenburg, where was great Hunting the 15th Instant for his Diversion. About 350 Stags, and a very great Number of Hinds and Bucks, were taken: But no more were kill'd than 170 Stags, 100 Hinds, and 50 Bucks; the rest were turn'd loose agen. This Day was appointed for Hunting agen: And his Majesty intends to return to Charlottenburg the 25th Instant. London, September 4.

Late last Night 3 Mails arriv'd from Holland.

Spire, September 1. The 28th Ul. the Prince of Baden advanc'd near to Pfaffenhoven, resolving to attack the Lines of Hague-nau in 3 several Places, notwithstanding he had Advice that the Enemy's Army was at Hand to sustain their Troops that guarded those Lines. His Highness first took a view of them, and then commanded the Count de Mercei to attack with the Horse on the Left of Pfaffenhoven; while the Hussars should attack higher, and the Grenadiers on the lower Modern. The Enemy made some Resistance, but the Count de Mercei attacking them with great Vigour, they retir'd, and our Men took Possession in the Lines. The Count de Mercei advancing a little beyond the Lines, perceived the Enemy's whole Army in Battallia, whereupon he sent to the Prince of Baden for 2 Regiments of Horse, who immediately order'd those of Mercei and la Tour to hasten to him; and himself advanc'd with Part of the Army to support him if need should be. The Marshal de Villars had detach'd 14 Squadrons to fall upon the Count de Mercei, but they seeing our Army advancing, retir'd to their Army, which is now but at a little Distance from ours. The taking of these Lines cost us no more than 1 Lieutenant and 16 Soldiers: We reckon the Enemy had 3 or 400 Men kill'd or taken. We wait for our heavy Artillery, after which 'tis believ'd we shall give Battle to the Enemy's Army.

Hague, September 6. It was advis'd Yesterday by Letters from the Army, that the Governour of Leeuwe had beaten a Parley and offer'd to capitulate on honourable Conditions, but General Dedem answer'd he would receive him and his Garrison on no other Terms than as Prisoners of War. This Morning at 11 a Clock, an Express arriv'd from the Army, with News that the said Garrison in Number above 400 Men have yielded themselves Prisoners of War; and given General Dedem Possession of the Town and Citadel. In the Place were found 17 Cannon and 2 Mortars.
